THE CAPITOL was originally built in 1705, the seat of Government having been moved from Jamestown to Williamsburg in 1699. Twice destroyed by fire, it has now been reconstructed upon its original foundation.

Williamsburg

. . . the capital of the Royal Colony of Virginia for nearly a century, has been restored through the interest and generosity of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., solely as an educational project, "that the future may learn from the past."

Nothing in Williamsburg, however minor, has been restored unless full information was available to make it authentic in design and workmanship. The same painstaking care that guided the restoration of the city, its buildings and gardens, has been applied to the selection of furniture for the restored buildings. It has resulted in a collection of antiques of unusual charm and beauty.

THE CRAFT PROGRAM

The insistent demand by visitors for copies of the furniture and furnishings in Williamsburg has caused Colonial Williamsburg to assume the broader educational responsibility of making them available for the public. So it was that a Craft Program was started. The same thoroughness that assembled the originals has been directed towards their reproduction.

It is a tribute to the high quality of the craftsmanship and integrity of the Kittinger Company, Buffalo, New York, that they have been appointed the exclusive licensed manufacturers of the authentic Williamsburg Restoration Furniture Reproductions.
